

Certificate of Compliance with Residential Waste Water Treatment Standards

If you are a contractor and you signed a service contract with an individual for work on a residential waste water treatment system, you must certify that the property used in carrying out the work complies, where required, with the standards set out in the Regulation respecting waste water disposal systems for isolated dwellings. To do so, complete this form and give it to the individual.

If the work was done on a condominium building, the contract may have been signed with the syndicate of co-owners. In such a case, complete a single copy of this form and give it to the syndicate's representative.

Note that, if you provide inaccurate or incomplete information, you could be liable to penalties, and penal proceedings may be instituted against you.
